College Testing Center For Selective Service

St. Joseph's College has once again been selected as one of 900 testing centers throughout the nation to give this year's Selective Service College Qualification Test. Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, has announced that the tests will be given on Thursday, Nov. 19, 1953, and Thursday, April 22, 1954.

Applicants for the tests will mail the applications to the Educational Testing Service in self-addressed envelopes. Applicants here on the campus may secure these envelopes from the registrar's office. Bulletins of information are also available at the registrar's office.

To be eligible to apply for the Selective Service tests a student must: (1) intend to request deferment as a student; (2) be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction; (3) must not have previously taken the qualification test.

Students whose academic year will end in January, 1954, and who have not taken the test, have been urged to take the November test so that they will have a test score on file at the local boards before the end of their academic year, at which time their boards will re-open and reconsider their cases to determine whether they should be deferred as students.

The present criteria for deferment as an undergraduate student are either a satisfactory score of 70 on the qualification test or a specified rank among the male members of the class (upper half of freshman class, upper two-thirds of the sophomore class, or upper three-fourths of the junior class).

Students accepted for admission to or in attendance at a graduate school prior to July 1, 1951, satisfy the criteria if their work is satisfactory. Graduate students admitted or attending after July 1, 1951, must have ranked among the upper half of the male members of their senior class or make a score of 75 or better on the qualification test.

These standards are flexible and need not be followed by the local boards. They may be raised or lowered at any time in accordance with manpower demands.

Applications for the Nov. 19 test must be postmarked no later than midnight, Monday, Nov. 2. Applications postmarked after this date cannot be accepted for that test.

St. Joe Hosts St. Mark's

The combined glee clubs of St. Mark's parish and Regina High School, both of Cincinnati, Ohio, will appear on St. Joseph's campus on Saturday, Oct. 31. The group will present a selection of musical numbers followed by a variety type of show.

The all-girl aggregation has appeared here twice before, once in 1951, and again in 1952. Mr. Cletus Mecklenborg will direct the group which is noted for its many fine performances given in and around the Cincinnati area.

Gleemen Take Initial Trip

The St. Joseph's Glee Club will make its first off-campus appearance of the year on Nov. 17, when they will sing for the Lions Club of Rensselaer. The occasion is the 10th anniversary party of the club, which will be held in DeMotte, Ind., at the American Legion home. Arrangements are being made by Mr. John Moore of Rensselaer.

A St. Joe alumnus, Rev. Cyril Ernst, C.P.P.S., has extended an invitation to the college glee club to revisit his parish in Pulaski, Ind., and repeat the performance given there last year. This concert has been tentatively scheduled for early spring.

The glee club opened the 1953-54 season with a performance given on Oct. 16 as part of the Homecoming festivities. The numbers presented were: "A Salute to the Pumas," "Sophomore Philosophy," "Bluebird of Happiness," "You Tell Me Your Dream," and the St. Joseph's Alma Mater.

SJC Faculty Tours Diocese

On the 25th of October, 20 priests from the faculty of St. Joseph's went to various parishes in the Diocese of Lafayette to speak on the new residence hall. The remainder of the parishes are to be visited on Nov. 1.

These sermons will inform the parishioners of the particular manner of fund raising to be used in their parish. In most parishes, a home-to-home canvass will begin on Nov. 1.

The Very Reverend Raphael H. Gross, President of the College, will give sermons in the Cathedral at Lafayette on Nov. 1.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. Travers, Vicar General, of Anderson, is serving as honorary chairman of the fund drive for Bennett Hall. Assisting the Vicar General will be a group of volunteers from the Diocese, including a general chairman and a chairlady for each parish where a canvass is to take place.

11 St. Joe Seniors Make "Who's Who"

"Revels" End Homecoming Festivities

By Jim Station

Alumni, dates, and parents gathered on the Collegeville campus for the 1953 Homecoming activities held on Oct. 16 and 17.

The festivities began Friday evening with a pep rally and the traditional bonfire ending freshman initiation. Following the pep rally, a barn dance, under the sponsorship of the Monogram Club, was held in Raleigh Hall. The final event of the evening was a hayride for the 150 couples who attended the barn dance.

Following the St. Joe-Butler football game on Saturday afternoon, the annual Homecoming dance was held in the fieldhouse from nine until 12 p.m. Two hundred and thirty-five couples were in attendance at the dance, which was highlighted by the introduction of Miss Deanna Burns, the Homecoming Queen, and the awarding of the Most Valuable Player trophy for the 1953 Homecoming game to Bill Zimmer, Puma quarterback. The presentation was made by Don Kligenberger, Homecoming chairman.

Following the Homecoming dance, a repeat performance of the Midnight Revels was held in Raleigh Hall from 12 until three a.m. Music for this dance was supplied by Willie Jones and his combo. The outstanding feature of the "Revels" was the jitterbug contest won by Chet Pilat and his date in a close decision over Jim Righimer and John St. Mary. Also noteworthy was the singing of Joe Maher and the trumpet work of Jerry Blaessing.

SJC Mixers Arranged by SC Committee

By Ray Gregoire

A full schedule of student dances has been arranged by the dance committee of the Student Council. These dances will be held in conjunction with Mundelein College of Chicago, Ill.; St. Mary's-of-the-Woods College, Terre Haute, Ind.; and St. Xavier's College, Chicago, Ill.

The first of these dances will be held at Mundelein College on the evening of Oct. 30. The following evening the girls from St. Mary's-of-the-Woods will be present on the St. Joe campus for the Ball State-St. Joseph football game, and a mixer in Raleigh Hall following the game. On Nov. 15, the date of the last home football game with the Lewis Flyers, the girls from St. Xavier's College will be here for a Sunday evening mixer.

A mixer with the girls from Mundelein has tentatively been scheduled for Dec. 5, and another mixer, this time with the girls from St. Mary's, has been set for early February, thus concluding the dance calendar for the first semester. A list of the dances for the second semester will be published at a later date. There is a possibility that other dances may yet be scheduled for the remainder of this semester.

By Joe Kneip

Eleven outstanding members of the senior class of St. Joseph's College have been chosen for inclusion in the 1953-54 edition of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. This annual publication is a listing of the outstanding members of the senior classes of the many colleges and universities throughout the country. This is the second consecutive year that eleven St. Joe men have been named to the list. The eleven chosen last year represented an all-time high for the college.

Candidates for representation on the list were nominated by the senior class. From these nominations, the eleven were chosen by a combined vote of the faculty and members of the junior and senior class.

Those named to the list are:

Buel T. Adams of Mansfield, Ohio; an Accounting major, Adams is a former editor of Stuff and is the 1953-54 Phase editor. The possessor of a very high scholastic index, Adams is the national treasurer of the National Federation of Catholic College Students.

Edmund S. Ashburner of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania; a Physical Education major, Ashburner has received varsity monograms in both football and baseball. He also has a very high scholastic index.

Bernard J. Boff of Defiance, Ohio; a member of the varsity basketball squad, Boff is president of the senior class, and also president of the Commerce Club. His name has frequently appeared on the Dean's List.

Richard F. Kotheimer of Youngstown, Ohio; Kotheimer is a Chemistry major and president of the Columbian Players. He is also chairman of the Dance Committee for the 1953-54 scholastic year.

George R. Kuhn of Detroit, Michigan; Kuhn is a Mathematics major and president of the Albertus Magnus Society. He is also a former president of the Don Bosco Club and at the present time is an officer in the college glee club. Kuhn's name has often appeared on the Dean's List.

Francis J. Molson of Whiting, Indiana; an English major, Molson is editor of Measure, the college magazine. He is also a member of the Phase staff.

Kenneth J. Ryan of Gary, Indiana; Ryan is a Business Administration major with a very high scholastic index. He is also the senior delegate to the National Federation of Catholic College Students.

George J. Smolar of Whiting, Indiana; Smolar has a very high scholastic average. He has also received varsity monograms in baseball.

Paul S. Steigmeyer of Fort Wayne, Indiana; an Accounting major, Steigmeyer was president of his class in 1952. He also possesses a very high scholastic index.

John D. Thorpe of Chicago, Illinois; an outstanding guard on the varsity football team, Thorpe is majoring in Business Administration. He is president of the Monogram Club, and also president of the Chicago Club.

William J. Zimmer of Covington, Kentucky; Zimmer is a Mathematics major, and is the regular quarterback of the Puma football team. He has held various class offices and has frequently been named to the Dean's List.

Sophs Elect McKiel As Rookie President

As the sun set on the St. Joseph campus, Wednesday, Oct. 14, only a few of the student body were aware of the fact that history was being made at that instant. A group of solemn sophomores, their jaws set, their eyes burning, were meeting at this moment in Noll Hall, just a short distance from the battle-scarred freshman fortress of East Seifert.

The purpose of this meeting was to fulfill the age-old requirement of the sophomore class, namely the election of a Rookie President. They were meeting to choose the man from the present class of freshmen that

Violence and Indifference Mark This Year's Initiation

The beanies have disappeared, the cafeteria has returned to normal, and another freshman initiation is history. And we become so bold as to ask, "What did the initiation accomplish?" "How many students did it hurt, and how many did it help?" We firmly believe that this year's initiation was poorly conducted by the sophomores, and poorly received by the freshmen. Yet the officers of these classes are not to be blamed; rather, it is the individual freshman and sophomore who is at fault.

The initiation period this year ran from Sept. 15 to Oct. 17, a total of 33 days. Here, we believe, lies the fault. The period was simply too long. Naturally, there are some in the sophomore class who will not agree with this. But when the sophomores, who are supposed to be initiating, lose interest in the initiation, it must be conceded that the period should be shortened.

To accuse the sophomore class of complete indifference would be unjust. But to say that the entire class was 100% behind the initiation would be incorrect. In the early weeks of September, when the initiation was still fresh, the rules of the initiation period were strictly enforced and the initiation was conducted smoothly. But in the early weeks of October, the idea of watching constantly for rule infractions became tedious, and more and more freshmen went unpunished. The Sophomore Court, an institution founded for the purpose of correcting delinquent freshmen, met only once during the entire initiation period. This fact showed lack of interest on the part of the initiators. Despite the efforts of the sophomore class officers, the initiation began to slide from under the jurisdiction of the second year men and finally, in the last week, it was completely out of control.

The freshman riot on the night of Oct. 15 provided the climax for the situation. (The pep rally the following night formed the official close of the initiation but was merely an anticlimax.) The freshman class, with everything to lose and nothing to gain, decided to take matters into their own hands. They stormed Noll Hall with the intention of punishing a few members of the sophomore class. Had they taken into consideration the consequence of such a move they may or they may not have gone ahead with the riot. But the hall was invaded, the sophomores resisted, the faculty disappeared, and in a few minutes the situation was out of control.

The question of who won and who lost will not be discussed here, but certainly hard feelings were developed as a few individuals went too far. One of the outstanding examples of this was the conduct of one belligerent freshman football player who attempted to turn upper East Seifert into a boxing arena.

The actual leaders of the riot have not been, and probably never will be ascertained. Likewise, the reasons for inciting the riot have not been fully explained. Surely the freshmen cannot claim to have been driven to revolt by any mistreatment on the part of the sophomores. If they were to examine the initiations of other nearby colleges and universities, they would find that initiation at Collegeville is initiation in its milder form. The freshmen have not been persecuted on the St. Joe campus.

The purpose of this editorial is not to demand the abolishment of freshman initiation; for a properly conducted freshman initiation is beneficial to all concerned. There is an old saying that experience is the best teacher. Why not benefit by the experience gained during the 1953 initiation, and shorten next year's program? It is our belief that a shorter initiation will prove to be a better initiation.

BILLSTUFF

By Bill Feely

'Twas the night before the bonfire and throughout the campus not a creature was stirring, not even a prefect, when . . . Splash! Revolt, revolt! The frosh on revolt against soph oppression! John White, Ed O'Rourke, and Chuck Wiles were the first second year men to get the old heave-ho into the goldfish-inhabited water of the pond. The sophomores, miserably outnumbered by the green beanie crew, called for the help of the upperclassmen, and soon justice was meted out as the showers of Seifert got full usage when it became bothersome to carry the freshmen to St. Joe's artificial lake. Several frosh barricaded themselves in their rooms and it was only through the use of a pass key, secured by an industrious soph, that they could be snatched from their dens.

Thus, as initiation is over and Homecoming is but a memory, both good and bad, the first big obstacle, academically speaking, makes its bow. The time has come when the old books must finally be opened and dusted off, for mid-term has arrived. The college catalogue states that mid-term marks are just a tentative showing of Joe Puma's progress, but if these 'tentative' marks are bad, it's the same as having one foot in the grave and the other in quicksand. Frosh, I think it best to inform you that the would-be index boosters of the student body such as Rec Hall, Bowling Alley, Ritz and Palace are not included on that little mimeographed sheet which the dean sends home to Mom and Pop Puma four times a year. What a cruel world it is when such less desirable subjects as philosophy, chemistry, and math become the only basis for that little (sometimes quite little) number called the 'index'.

Hats off to Mr. Pupo and his study clinic. Let's hope it meets with big success. This is the first year it has been organized on such a large scale. Perhaps if it had been so organized long ago, less students would have left St. Joe due to academic failure.

History prof Kilmer was surprised to find a pigeon (non-carrier type) in his desk drawer while lecturing to his American History class on the communications systems of early times.

Question of the week: What happened to the illustrious order of the Sacroplan Moths so famous of yesteryear? Has the administration been after them with DDT?

I have received several complaints (from stateside) that this column has contained too much news from Drexel and not enough from the rest of the campus. I dismiss this with the following retaliation. St. Joe also has Noll, Seifert, Gaspar, White House, Ad Building, Xavier, and the dairy barns. Your reporter will gladly accept any contributions of news, trivial or otherwise.

Odds'n Ends: Fr. Schaefer trying to remove the bumper of Fr. Roof's car while backing out of his Noll parking space . . . Al Olechna with his hand bandaged after a tussle with a bunk bed . . . Owen Weitzel and John Donnelly getting Homecoming dates quite unexpectedly when two damsels were left waiting at the train station . . . Keith Forton and Jim Hoess selling tickets to the grunt and groan extravaganza in the field house . . . John Good hanging out of the window as Fr. Hinton conducted his Journalism 31 class . . . Jerry Blaessing and Frank Hirsch having their room connected to Steve Patun's and Ed Cyrier's by means of a doorway supplied by St. Joe's carpenter shop . . . John Hentschel, my roommate, using his engineering studies to repair our antiquated alarm clock . . . Don Merki getting all set for his leading role in the Junior Pep rally. I'll end this week's column with the following words of wisdom. If you want to live, learn to laugh and thus delay your epitaph.

Unofficial Ambassadors . . .

The college students of the United States have an excellent opportunity to do something concrete toward the cause of world peace. There are at the present time 34,000 foreign students from 145 different countries enrolled in 1470 colleges and universities here in America. These 34,000 are more than just foreign students enrolled in our universities. They can rightly be called unofficial ambassadors of peace.

It would be interesting to interview these students from other countries and learn just why they came to the United States to study. It would be more than interesting if we examined the conditions in the homes of these students. What would we find? What do these people believe? And most important of all, what is their attitude toward the United States? The answers to all these questions are important to world peace.

There is much that we, the college students of the United States, can do to improve the attitudes of these students and, at the same time, improve the conditions for world peace. It is in this category that we mention the unofficial ambassadors of world peace.

These students are, for the most part, here in the United States for only a few years for the purpose of furthering their education. When they have completed their studies, the greater percentage will return to their native countries with definite ideas about America, its people, its institutions, and peace.

Of what will the ideas of these consist? What will their attitudes toward the United States be in the next ten years? Will they be friendly or will they be hostile? We cannot provide a definite answer for these questions at this time, but we, the college students of America, can do much to influence the attitudes and opinions of these guests.

Our relations with these unofficial ambassadors will be of limited duration. However, we will have enough contact with them to register a lasting impression. And this impression is the one they will carry back to their own countries. It is this impression, this idea of America, that they will spread throughout their countries. Therefore, it is the duty of the American college student to make sure these unofficial ambassadors take home ideas and attitudes that are favorable to the United States and favorable to world peace.

The students of St. Joseph's also have this obligation. We have several unofficial ambassadors on the campus, and it is our duty to provide them with a favorable impression of America and Americans.

This presence of 34,000 ambassadors in American colleges today, is bound to have a strong influence on the United States of tomorrow. The question remains as to the exact influence. The answer lies in the responsibility of the American college student.

Study Clinic Offers Aid

The college has recently organized another program, similar to the reading clinic, designed to benefit the study habits of the student body. This new program, a study clinic, is under the direction of Mr. Salvatore A. Pupo.

No registration is necessary for this free service, which is open to all students. The clinic is held on the third floor of the Science Building, from four until six p.m., Monday through Friday throughout the school year. However, special appointments may be made with the director.

The services offered include both tutorial assistance in the various branches of the college curricula and guidance in the development of specialized study needed in the various subject areas. The courses treated are science, social studies, English, and philosophy, as well as general study skills.

A session in itself consists in lectures and a discussion of any previous classes in that respective subject. These lectures are given by the director of that department, the class instructor, or an honor student. Tape recordings of class lectures are studied to detect noteworthy points, and thus the students learn the means of retaining the important knowledge of that respective lecture.

Unofficial Ambassador Gives Views of U.S.

St. Joseph's College is fortunate in having one of the unofficial ambassadors that have already been discussed on this page, enrolled for the 1953-54 scholastic year. He is Paschal Chang, who until six weeks ago, claimed Seoul, the capitol city of the Republic of Korea, as his home.

However, under the sponsorship of a prominent Ft. Wayne attorney, Paschal was able to leave his native Korea and enroll here at St. Joseph's. The quiet and likable freshman has chosen Business Administration as his major field and hopes to return to Korea after his college career terminates to enter private business. In preparation for his four years of study here at St. Joseph's, Paschal attended the Seoul National University for two years where he received instruction in general courses pertaining to Business Administration.

Also during his tenure at the university, he mastered the English language. Previous instruction had given him a complete knowledge of the Japanese language.

Mission Unit Begins Work

The Dwenger Mission Unit of Xavier Hall has resumed activities for the present scholastic year, as was evidenced during the second meeting of the Unit on Sunday, October 18. With the Rev. Clement J. Kuhns as moderator, the new officers, elected at the final meeting of the previous school year, undertook their respective duties at the first meeting of the current year, held on Sept. 27. They are: Lee Flaherty, president; Bob Jones, vice-president; Charles Werling, secretary; Joe Stechschulte, treasurer; Jim McNeil, librarian; Jim Luley, program committee director; and Jack Miller, historian.

Each of the Unit's eight subsidiary divisions, reported its election of chairman and secretary for the coming year. A total of $75 was appropriated to three of the clubs. The Redistribution Club reported its mailing activities since the meeting last May. The Program Committee chairman stated that during future meetings, various programs would be scheduled to afford the members a more thorough understanding of the home and foreign missions.

Although he has been on the campus for only six weeks, Paschal has singled out Philosophy as his favorite class, but he will readily admit that English can be troublesome.

Of the ten members of the Chang family, five are now studying in the United States. Paschal has brothers studying at Loras College, Dubuque, Iowa; St. Vincent College, Latrobe, Pa.; and at the Marynoll Father's Manual Junior Seminary, Scranton, Pa. A sister is also studying at Rosary College, River Forest, Ill.

In comparing St. Joseph's to Seoul National University, Paschal relates that there is very little difference in the teaching methods of the two schools. The main difference is in the size of the two. The Korean university has an enrollment of more than 10,000. This enrollment is not outstanding considering the size of the city of Seoul which has a population of over two million people.

Paschal is very much impressed with the American way of life, and he believes America to be a wonderful country. He finds the language to be hard, the women to be beautiful, and the football to be very, very rough.

Pumatters

By Dick Obergfell

Wow! 47-13! What a lopsided score. Yes, it is a large margin to lose by but before we condemn the team too much we must consider that the Pumas were not full strength. Left halfback Dave Krigbaum, who suffered an injured hand in the Indiana State game, saw limited action against the Bulldogs. Ray Ramirez, hurt in the Valpo contest, was also forced to sit out the Butler game. Finally, left end Merle Effing, who turned in a whale of a game against Indiana State, was sidelined early in the first quarter with a side injury. Let's hope these boys can get back in playing condition so the Pumas can get on that victory trail again.

One of the brighter spots of the 47-13 lacing the Pumas suffered at the hands of Butler was the play of quarterback Bill Zimmer. Bill's quick kick in the first period set up the game's first score; and his passes, which netted 144 yards, were the only thing that kept the Pumas in the ball game.

"Zim" was awarded the Lincoln trophy for being the outstanding player in the Homecoming game. But Bill did not just come to life for the Butler game. He has been a standout in every Puma game this season. Besides doing the passing, he handles all of the kicking chores and contributes greatly to the running attack. A valuable man, indeed.

Here's a brief note of happiness (??) for all Puma rooters. Valparaiso, who downed St. Joe 45-7 on Oct. 3, was beaten by Evansville 9-7. And Indiana State, who stopped the Pumas 23-14 the following week, were handed a 33-6 drubbing by Ball State.

Here is how St. Joe stands in some individual and team statistics in the ICC.

Team Offense	Games	Yards	Ave.
BUTLER (1st)	3	1135	378
St. Joe (6th)	3	539	180

Forward Passing	Games	Att.	Comp.	Net Gain	Ave.
BUTLER (1st)	3	63	33	451	150
St. Joe (5th)	3	51	25	282	94

Rushing Offense	Games	Net Yards	Ave.
BUTLER (1st)	3	684	228
St. Joe (6th)	3	257	85

Scoring	TD.	PAT	F.G.	Pts.
BUTLER (1st)	15	9	0	99
St. Joe (5th)	5	4	0	34

In individual punting, St. Joe's Frank Szysmanski ranks second with a 42.7 ave. and Bill Zimmer is sixth with a 36.8 mark. Zimmer is also rated sixth in the scoring column with 2 T.D.'s and 4 PAT for a total of 16 points. Butler's Gene Kuzmic is the ICC scoring leader with 26 points in three games.

Any type of sport taste you might have can be satisfied this year at St. Joe. Mr. Beane introduces a fullback who never runs with the ball in his newly acquired I.M. soccer league. And the Rensselaer American Legion Post brought the 'grunt and groan boys' to the St. Joe gym in a wrestling bout that featured Milt Neilson and Yukon Eric.

Xavier Hall Footballers Finish Initial Round

The first round of the Xavier Hall football season ended recently, with Gene Torisky's team on top. Torisky's team clinched the title by downing Clyde Simon's powerful squad in a play-off.

After drawing first blood on an off-tackle smash early in the second quarter, the winners were forced back to defend their goal repeatedly during the second and third quarters. Simon's lone score came in the third period on a twenty-yard pass, Simon to Bill Hoyng in the end zone.

An interception by Jerome Eilerman gave Torisky's team possession with just two minutes left to play. On the first play Cletus O'Drobinak snared a thirty-five-yard pass from Torisky on the enemy fifteen and outran Jim Gerding to the end zone to put the game on ice. Torisky ended the scoring with a drop-kick for the extra point, making the final score 13-6.

The second round shapes up to be as close and hard fought as the first. Tom Bir, with his recent win over Kalicky, has proven his team will make second round trouble for the rest of the league. The season thus far has produced many close games, among them two losses by Bir on safeties alone. With his team clicking, the second half of the season should surpass the first in thrills.

League standings after the first round:

Torisky	3	1	1
Simon	2	2	1
Kalicky	2	2	0
Bir	1	2	1
Falter	1	2	1

League Leaders Smash St. Joseph's Squad 47-13 Before Homecoming Crowd

Second Round Play Begins

By Jim McLaughlin

The second round of the intramural football league started last week with two games being played. The Volunteers won over the Vikings with two touchdown passes, one good for 35 yards, and the other for 10 yards. Both passes were from Benigni to McNulty.

The other game saw the Indians come from behind in the last quarter to defeat the Brewers. The score was 0 to 0 at half time. In the third quarter, Gus Pasquini intercepted a Brewer pass and was tagged in the end-zone, giving the Brewers a 2-0 edge at the close of the third quarter. The Indians then tied the score when McCarthy was tagged by Meyer for a safety. The Indians went on to win by scoring two touchdowns in the last minutes of the fourth quarter. The final score was 14 to 2.

The roster for the second round, which ends November 13, is as follows: Vikings, Volunteers, Panthers, Unanimous, Brewers, Indians, Warriors, Lions, and the Pumas.

The intramural bowling league got under way Tuesday, October 13 with the freshmen bowling at 4:15 p.m. The upper classmen started the same day at 9:00 p.m. Wednesday, the second league of upper classmen got under way.

The league consists of three sets of teams which are as follows:

Tuesday at 4:15 p.m.

Wildcats	Jets
Alley Aces	Pumas
Mustangs	Roughriders
Hoosiers	Hornets
Dragons	Lions

The Alley Aces, Hoosiers, and the Roughriders are tied for first place in this league. Don Adams of the Hoosiers is leading the league so far with a 154 average.

Tuesday at 9:00 p.m.

J. D. Shev's	Whiz Kids
Alley Cats	The Syndicate
Fr. Falter Post	King Pins
Gizmos

The Whiz Kids, the Syndicate, and the King Pins are tied for first place in this league, with Michalski the top man with a 186 average.

Wednesday at 4:15 p.m.

Dirty 5
Vampires
Yanks
Alley Rats

In this league, the Yanks are the top team, with the Dirty 5 laying claim to the top point man, Radzinski, holding a 164 average.

St. Joseph's hapless football team fell to their fourth defeat in five games as they bowed to the Purple Aces of Evansville College on Friday evening, October 23. The final score of the ICC Conference tilt was 26-6. For the first half of the game, the Pumas fought the Evansville team to a standstill. But after the Pumas had registered their only score of the night in the third period, the flood gates opened and the Purple Aces pushed across four touchdowns in the remaining portion of the game.

After a scoreless first half that saw both teams threaten several times, the Pumas broke the scoring ice early in the third quarter. Bill Zimmer intercepted an Evansville pass on the St. Joe 40 yard line and carried to the enemy's 20 before he was run out of bounds. After an unsuccessful line play, Zimmer faded to pass and hit Pete Fenlon in the end zone for the Pumas lone score of the night. Zimmer's try for the extra point went wide of the mark and the score stood 6-0 in favor of the Collegeville eleven.

However, this lead was short lived as the powerful Evansville ground attack broke through the Puma defense to score just before the third period ended. The extra point was good and the Purple Aces led 7-6.

Coach Joe Pawlowski's boys were never in the ball game after the fourth period got under way. Mixing a well-executed passing attack with their ground game, Evansville pushed over three more touchdowns in the period as the rapidly tiring Pumas tried in vain to halt their drives. The game ended with St. Joseph's on the wrong end of a 26-6 score.

On the lighter side of the picture, several members of the St. Joe squad, who have been recuperating from injuries, will be ready for Saturday's game with Ball State. The returning footballers are halfback Dave Krigbaum, tackle Harold Pennington, halfback Bill Basil, and end Merle Effing. However, even with the services of these players, the Pumas will be cast in the role of the underdog in their clash with Ball State.

St. Joe Observes Dads Day

St. Joe will observe its traditional Dad's Day at the next home game with Ball State on Oct. 31. The dads of Puma football players will sit in a body at the game, each father wearing a jersey that corresponds to the number worn by his son.

At halftime the Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross, president of St. Joseph's College, will deliver an address of welcome to the dads and introduce them to the crowd. After the game there will be an informal gathering with faculty members at Raleigh Hall.

Dan Sheehan scored Butler's fourth touchdown on a 19 yard off tackle run and Louis Caporale scored two more touchdowns in the fourth quarter to give Butler a 47 to 13 win. For the Pumas it was their third ICC defeat.

St. Joe Senior Races On Michigan Lakes

"If you can't go around them, then go over them." No, this isn't football terminology, but rather an axiom applied to energetic, young men who enjoy risking their necks while skimming over the waves at 45 m.p.h. or better in the dangerous and exciting sport of outboard motor boat racing.

One of these young racing enthusiasts is a senior here on the St. Joseph campus. He is Keith Fortin of Traverse City, Michigan.

Keith, who has been interested in outboard racing for quite some time, has two years of actual racing experience behind him. This year he finished second throughout the state of Michigan in total points in races sanctioned by the Michigan Outboard Racing Association. This organization sponsors races throughout the state during the racing season. Points are awarded in accordance with the position the racer has finished. These points are tabulated at the conclusion of the season, and the leading point scorers then receive cash awards according to the number of points they have scored.

Much of the success he has gained can, according to Keith, be attributed to his sturdy, 110 pound craft, the Rock, Jr., which he purchased in 1951 from the Van Pelt Racing Boat Co. The boat is ten feet long, and must be heavily weighted to reach the 140 pound minimum weight necessary for its particular class of outboard racing.

Fortin and the Rock Jr., have reached speeds up to, and including 147 m.p.h. on several occasions. The world's record in Fortin's class is 149 m.p.h.

However, when asked if he believed he could exceed the record in the Rock Jr., Keith explained that very few people realize what is necessary for a record-breaking performance. Such little things as the temperature of the water, the elevation or depression above or below sea level, the depth of the water, the heat range of the various types of spark plugs must all be taken into consideration before each race. And all of these details must be perfect if a record is to be broken.

Young Mr. Fortin has an avid supporter in Rev. Edward Maziarz, St. Joseph math instructor and Drexel Hall prefect. Father Maziarz has seen Keith race on several occasions. "Father persuaded me to let him try out one of the boats," relates Keith. "His first ride was also his last. Since then, he has been content to be a spectator and watch the others race."

The racing season begins each year during the early part of May, and continues until the latter part of September. This year, aside from participating in the many races in Michigan, the Traverse City senior traveled to northern Wisconsin to take part in the 97 mile Lake Winnebago Marathon. This event, one of the biggest in outboard racing, drew over 500 entries from almost every state in the union. Keith made an excellent showing by finishing 14th in a field of 70 participating in his class. He also competed in the Gull Lake Marathon where he finished in second place.

Perhaps the biggest disappointment in the Drexelite's career was in the $500 Top and the Bee Marathon in northern Michigan. After 70 of the 87 mile course had been completed, Keith was far ahead of all competition. He momentarily stopped to free some debris from his propeller and accidentally cap-sized the boat. He spent an hour in the water before being picked up, during which time boat after boat passed him on their way to the prize money that had so nearly been his.

But next year, when the first of May rolls around, Keith will have the Rock Jr. in top shape, ready once again to roar across the Michigan lakes. And you can safely be assured that if Keith "can't go around them, he'll go over them."

McKiel . . .

would carry the banner of the about-to-be-emancipated frosh, a man who would bear the desirable title of Rookie President.

These serious-minded sophomores were well aware that the task ahead would not be easy. They had previously selected three freshmen as being meritorious of this honor. The three honored personages were Messrs. James Booth, Joseph Lukasik, and Jack McKiel. But to choose one from among these three presented quite a problem. Each of the three had distinguished himself during the initiation as being worthy of the office. To pick one and exclude the other two was a difficult task indeed.

However, after a lengthy discussion, during which the attributes of the three candidates were completely covered, a vote was taken and a decision was reached. Jack McKiel, of Chicago, was named Rookie President of 1953. After compiling the figures of the election it was announced that McKiel had been elected by a unanimous vote.

The victor, when informed of his sweeping victory, promised that he would do his best to uphold the reputation of his predecessors, and also that of the freshman class. Mr. McKiel seemed overjoyed at his easy victory, but at the conclusion of the interview with this reporter he mentioned that he feared the procedure of the election may not have been above reproach.

Several members of the Alumni, who were on hand for the homecoming festivities on Oct. 17, converse with Father Fehrenbacher. Several score of alumni returned to the college Homecoming weekend.
